

A Guide to Forest Owner Groups in Ireland

facilitated by Teagasc

Introduction

Since the mid nineties, the Teagasc Forestry Development Department has actively promoted and facilitated the development of forest owner groups through the ongoing provision of advisory, technical and organisational support. These groups around the country benefit from group learning and discussion, group thinning, and for some groups business development.

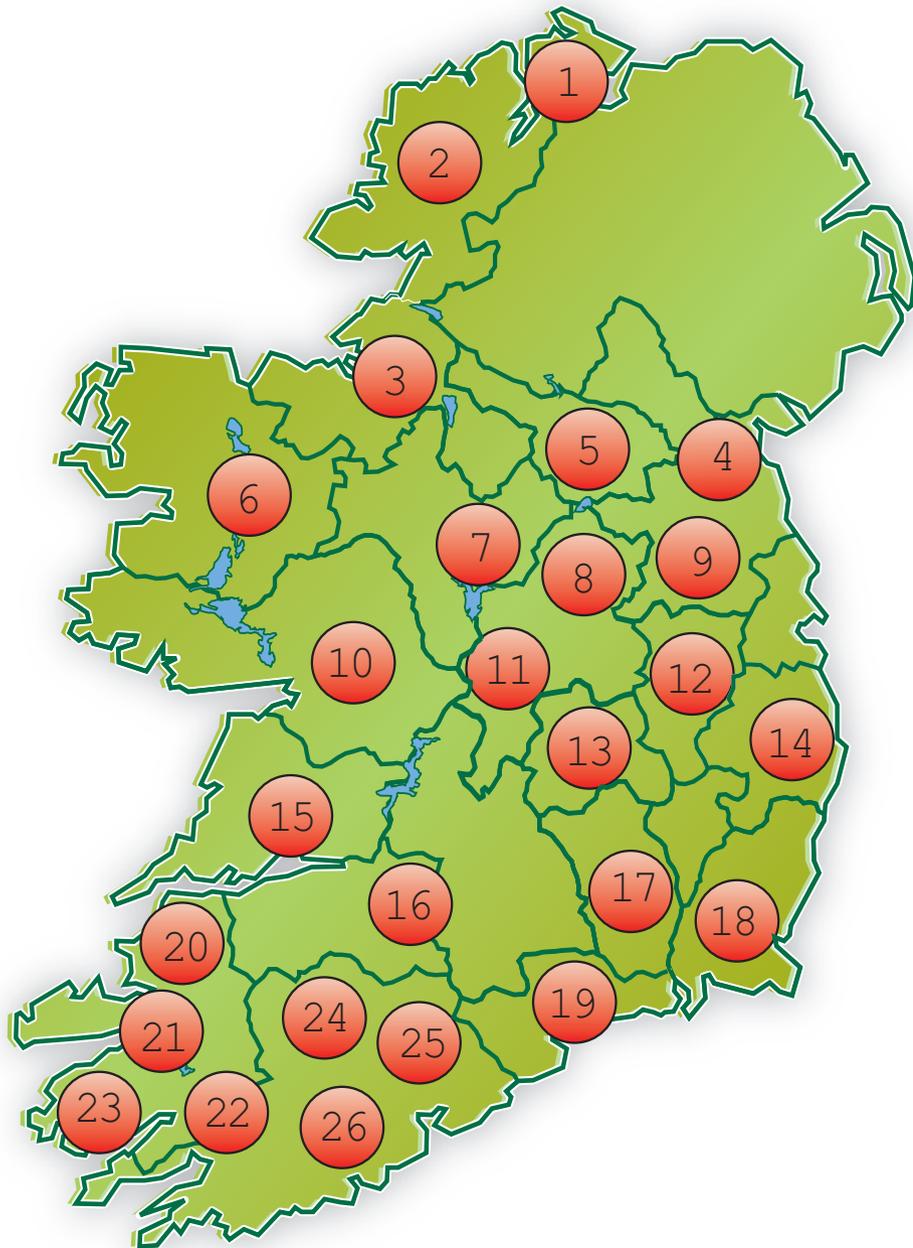

Many of these groups have involvement from other bodies such as Leader companies, IFA, Local Authorities, local wood energy supply companies etc.

The UN declared 2012 as the ‘The International Year of Cooperatives’ in order to promote the formation and growth of co-operatives among individuals and institutions to address common economic needs and for socio-economic empowerment. The existing 26 Forest Owner Groups are living testimony of this.

This short booklet does not reflect the countless hours spent by forest owners who have given their time in establishing groups, nor can it show the undocumented learning and sharing of experience that happens purely by the fact that these groups exist or indeed it will not capture the future potential of each of these groups if forest owners continue to work hard and give of their time in developing these groups.

This booklet gives a brief glimpse of each forest owner group in Ireland (who have had some facilitation by Teagasc). It outlines basic information about each group, what area they cover and how to contact them if you wish to find out more or indeed join a group.

If you are interested in setting up a forest owner group, contact your local Teagasc Development Officer (for contact details, see www.teagasc.ie/forestry).

1. Inishowen Forest Owners Group

This group is based in the Inishowen peninsula. Membership is open to forest owners and others interested in maximising local forestry potential. The group has only been formed recently and is a loose informal setup of neighbours helping each other out with help from Inishowen Co Op and Western Forestry Co Op.

Aims are:

- To group together forests for thinning and getting best markets for thinnings
- Improving underperforming forests
- Educating in forestry culture and sharing knowledge within the group

2. Donegal Woodland Owners Society Limited (DWOSL)

Registered as a Co- Operative Society on the 27th March 2008.

Area covered - Co. Donegal

Basic rule of membership - Must own woodland / forestry within Donegal, minimum of 1 hectare of coniferous or 0.1 hectare of broadleaf woodland.

Membership Subscription - Initial registration from €100 for up to 8 hectares with an annual renewal fee after the 1st year from €30 (see further details on website)

Aims / Goals / Services- DWOSL has a bottom- up, hands- on approach, with the added commitment of voluntary time and labour from its members. Its aims are to maximise returns to forest owners through good forest management services and to add value locally to our timber, thus creating sustainable employment from our member's forests. Services are available from DWOSL - forest maintenance and administration work, timber marketing and firewood sales, field days, study trips, newsletters and forest machinery hire. DWOSL has entered the Energy Supply Contract (ESCO) market. The committee of Donegal Woodland Owners Society consists of up to 13 elected members (See website for details)

5. Lakeland Forestry Owners Group

The Lakeland Forestry Owners Group covers county Cavan and some adjacent areas of counties Meath & Leitrim, where productive clusters can be formed. The criterion for membership is ownership of a forest/ woodland. The Lakeland Forestry Owners Group was formed in 2010 with approximately 70 owners. All owners are interested in the concept of increasing their knowledge and awareness of forestry practice through training, education and sharing individual experiences. A number of meetings, courses and field days have been organised to facilitate this. The groups have no formal structure but eight owners act as a steering group for the other owners.

The emphasis in the immediate future is to develop and consolidate cluster groups so as to combine owner's resources to achieve economies of scale. The objective for the long term is to maximize the economic, social and environmental benefits of forestry for both the grower and the local economy.

6. Mayo Forest Growers Group

Area covered-East Mayo

Basic rules of membership - Must be forest owners and for practical reasons should be within a working distance of Swinford.

Membership subscription - None at present

Aims and objectives - The Group was formed in early 2012 to develop viable and sustainable management and harvesting of timber. The aims are to enable the growers to gain experience and take control of their own plantations, many of which are relatively small or isolated. The approach being taken is to exploit the rising demand for timber fuel to support long-term management of farm forestry resources.

7. Longford Farm Forestry Group

The Longford Farm Forestry Group commenced in March 2010

A steering committee of 11 elected members is in place to help lead the group. The group has held a number of information meetings and field events specifically for all forest owners in Co. Longford that have forestry planted prior to 2002. Over 120 forest owners have attended one or more of these events organised by the group.

The aim of the group is to maximise the value of farm forestry plantations in Co. Longford through education, co-operation and the sharing of experience.

9. Meath Forestry Owners Group

The Meath Forestry Owners Group covers county Meath and some adjacent areas of counties Cavan, Louth and Monaghan, where productive clusters can be formed.

The criterion for membership is ownership of a private forest/woodland in County Meath. The Owners Group was formed in 2011 with about 65 owners. The Groups' objective is to maximise the value of private forests and woodlands in County Meath. One of the main reasons for the formation of the Group is to share experiences, ideas and information on forest management, harvesting and timber sales. Meetings, courses and field days are organised to facilitate this.

The group has no formal structure but some owners act as a steering group for the other owners.

The emphasis in the immediate future is to develop and consolidate cluster groups to combine owner's resources and so maximise access to timber/fuel wood markets. The objective for the long term is to maximize the economic, social and environmental benefits of forestry for both the grower and the local economy.

10. Galway Forest Producer Group

Area covered: County Galway

Basic rule of membership: owning private woodland in Co. Galway

Membership subscription: No subscription necessary

Aims & objectives-

The Galway Forest Producer Group was established in 2008 with the aim of mobilising timber in Galway from Private Forests. Forest owners come together to share their experiences in relation to harvesting, some owners may not have gone through the process yet but it is important to share any knowledge to ensure a good model for thinning is established for the private sector in the county for the future. To date over 50 members have joined the group and have participated in training provided by Teagasc. Many owners are at the stage of road construction but more owners need to come on board to make thinning a viable option.

13. Laois Forestry Producer Group

Area covered- Co Laois

Basic rule of membership- private forest growers in County Laois whose plantations are at least 8 years old

Membership subscription: €30/year

Laois Farm Forestry Group was formed in 2009 and has about 80 active members. The aims of the group are to maximize the economic, social and environmental benefits of farm forestry in Laois through education, training and the sharing of experience. A constitution is in place and an executive committee runs the group. Liam Kelly of Teagasc is secretary to the group. To date a series of workshops and demonstrations have been organised by the group. A private forest resource survey of the county has been carried out for the group by Purser, Tarleton & Russell Forest Consultants. Clustering and certification are issues presently being addressed by the group.

14. Wicklow Private Woodland Owners Group

Area covered- County Wicklow and adjoining areas

Basic rule of membership- owning private woodland in Co. Wicklow & adjoining areas

Membership subscription- €40 base sub, (maybe higher for owners of larger forest areas)

The Wicklow Private Woodland Owners Group was formed in 2008 to foster and promote the interests of private forest owners in County Wicklow and adjacent areas.

The WPWOG, with over 100 members was an initiative of the Wicklow Uplands Council, supported by Forest Service, Teagasc, and Wicklow Rural Partnership with a focus on forest management and optimising woodland resource. To date it has conducted a Private Woodland Production Forecast Study for Co Wicklow. It has participated in the Wicklow Forest Forum with local forest stakeholders including Wicklow Co. Co., Forest Service, processors etc. The group hold regular meetings and forest walks, have negotiated group woodland insurance and have held a conference on Forest Recreation. WPWOG are currently investigating proposals to contract the supply of woodchip.

15. County Clare Wood Energy Group

Area covered- Co. Clare

Basic rule of membership- all forest owners in Clare

Membership Subscription- No subscription necessary

Aims / Goals / Services-

The County Clare Wood Energy Project (CCWEP) was established in 2005 to support the development of a commercially viable wood energy sector in the county, based on wood chip from local farm forest thinnings. Over the years the wood energy sector has grown in the county with 2.5MW installed capacity. There are over 400 CCWEP members and many are now supplying the raw material for the woodchip boilers in the County. A cluster approach is used to bring neighbouring forest owners together. Smaller forests are more attractive for road and harvesting contractors in a group setting so it is important that owners work together to get the best prices possible for their timber.

Training is extremely important for the clusters and Teagasc provide this service on behalf of CCWEP. There are many useful publications available for forest owners and wood energy enthusiasts. CCWEP's motto is "there is strength in numbers".

20. Kerry Farm Forestry Owners

Area covered- north Kerry

The Kerry Farm Forestry Owners group was independently convened and set up in 2009 by forest owners in North Kerry. Their objective was to assist farmers with all aspects of farm forestry in Kerry and to maximise returns to the farmer. The size of individual plantations in Kerry makes marketing difficult. By organising groups of forest owners, Kerry Farm Forestry Owners sought to assist by bringing these plantations into active management and to increase returns to the farmer.

While not involved in day to day running of the group, Teagasc and the Forest Service has provided access to training, technical backup and organised forestry events on thinning and harvesting.

Aims

- To increase returns from forestry to farmers.
- Advice on inspection paths, inventory, roadways, felling licence, harvesting
- Marketing
- Advice on training courses.

Membership subscription-
Registration fee of €100

Contact - Secretary- Edwin Stryker

21. Currow Forestry Group, Kerry

The Currow Forestry Group was set up in December 2011. There are 6 members with farm forestry covering 300 acres of mainly Sitka spruce trees, located in mid Kerry, 3 km from Currow village. Members are asked to attend all meetings/demonstrations and to contribute any knowledge which they may have or heard with regard to forestry/timber matters.

Annual membership subscription-
There is no subscription fee at present but plan to introduce one shortly.

Aims & Objectives-

The groups aim is to manage/thin forests as a co operative and in doing so, get the best price possible for products and most importantly keep the profits in the local area. Rural communities must be maintained and preserved and the group believes that forestry is key in achieving this into the future.

In 2010 the first plantation was thinned at 19 years old and yielded 600 tonnes of timber. This was an important job as it showed the value of timber and how important it is to get the first thin right. So far in 2012, 4 others forests were thinned and 1600 tonnes of timber went over the weigh bridge.

22. Headford Forestry Owners Group

Area covered- Headford and Killarney area, Co. Kerry

Basic rule of membership- Own or have an interest in forestry
Membership subscription- None

The Headford Owners Group first met in Autumn 2009. There is no formal committee in place, members have periodically met, primarily to share experiences and gain technical knowledge on issues involved in management and harvesting. Members have also attended events such as forestry field days, forestry demonstrations and chainsaw training. Plantations within the group are at varying stages of development.

Aims & Objectives- To encourage new members, active participation and avail of the benefits of a co-ordinated approach to forest management, where appropriate.

23. South Kerry Owner Groups

Area covered- Kenmare, Dromid & Killorglin

Basic Rule of membership: Own forestry or have an interest in forestry/ wood energy

Meetings have been held in the South Kerry Area in response to the emergence of local wood energy opportunities and the required economies of scale in relation to harvesting, marketing and supply. Indoor and outdoor meetings to date have been facilitated by South Kerry Development Partnership with independent technical input by Teagasc.

As this is the early stage in the development of these groups, a decision is yet to be made on issues such as structure and how groups will develop. New members are welcome to join.
