

Beef Information Night

'Keeping your Beef Herd Healthy'

Tuesday, 21st October 2014

McWilliam Park Hotel,
Claremorris, Co. Mayo

7.30pm - 9.30pm

Wednesday, 22nd October 2014

Tullamore Court Hotel,
Tullamore, Co. Offaly

With beef margins tight, you need to ensure you maximise the potential of all your beef cattle. To do this you need to safeguard the health and performance of your herd.

Animal Health Ireland is partnering with the Irish Farmers' Journal, Teagasc and Veterinary Ireland in hosting two beef information evenings entitled 'Keeping your Beef Herd Healthy'.

Topics to be covered include:

Parasite Control at Housing

John Gilmore, Veterinary Practitioner, Roscommon

- Potential problems at housing
- Investigation and treatments

Nutrition

Mark McGee, Teagasc, Grange

- Silage analysis
- Condition scoring
- Ration formulation, mixes and rations for each feed group
- Minerals

Pneumonia in housed cattle

Conor Geraghty, Veterinary Practitioner, Ballinasloe

- Risk factors
- Vaccination
- Housing and ventilation

Come early to view the demonstration of parasite infected animal livers/rumens

The Beef Information Evenings
are kindly sponsored by:

